

We often forget how important cultural heritage is. Day by day we walk past buildings, monuments, works of art and don't notice a thing. When I got invited to Refresh Heritage Week I saw a great opportunity to learn about Romanian heritage. The best part was meeting all the great people from Romania, Spain and Italy. We had a blast walking around Iași, discovering beautiful architecture and learning about historical pieces. Being able to work, paint and spend so much time in the Palace of Culture was a thing to remember. The Palace left me speechless with its grand beauty. It was nice working with people who are same-minded and create art. I had a great time listening to local musicians as well. I am very thankful for this experience. I came home with more knowledge, new friends and great memories.

Klara Lapanja, painter, participated at RHW Iasi 2018, Romania