

To be a part in RHW was really an amazing experience for me. The whole week was well organized, full of fun, good food, new knowledge and amazing people. We learned many things about different cultures and had a chance to get in touch with different styles of music: from classical to jazz, gipsy, irish and traditional music. I was also surprised by how many new things I got to know about my own (slovenian) culture and heritage and how much more I have to explore about it. During RHW I realized that our heritage is important part of who we are and that we should carry it more proudly. At the end I was (and still am) very thankful for this opportunity, for everybody who took part of it and for all the knowledge and experience and memories I got there. It really was an amazing week!
